REGIONAL USDA FESTIVALS: It has been decided to shelve the plan to sponsoring an annual festival in each of the four USDA Regions so as not to conflict or possibly detract from the National Convention.

USDA ANNUAL MEETINGS: USDA will hold two-hour meetings in lieu of four-hour meetings to assure that attendees would be absent from the National Convention for a minimum period of time. USDA has decided to hold its meeting on Wednesday prior to the convention and hold a short Introduction to USDA meeting on Friday afternoon.

USDA PARTICIPATION AT THE NSDC: The USDA does not desire to conflict with the purpose, conduct or control of the NSDC, however, we do desire to participate as a recognized National Organization in the same manner that other recognized top national organizations participate. With the same recognition as the other organizations, USDA would become a part of the NSDC and therefore could not compete with it in any manner.

BMI transmitted a proposed "Club License" to USDA for consideration. The proposed agreement was a modification to their BMI "Athletic Clubs/Dance Classes Performance Agreements" and structured to require clubs to pay $46 to $241 per year for BMI License, based on number of students (club membership). Letter from USDA Attorney James Hyden (AR) states that USDA enjoys a "public charity" status since its sources of income are from the general public as opposed to a "private foundation" which receives its income from a few sources. As such, a public charity qualifies for full charitable deduction privileges by donors. The proposed Youth Program appears to be consistent with the purposes under which USDA was formed and is currently operating. There is no need to set up another organization or trust fund. Solicitations by USDA are permissible activities. Donations to USDA are tax deductible. The objectives of the Youth Advisory Committee can be met simply by establishing a dedicated or segregated account under USDA's employer identification number just as USDA has done with the separate insurance account. Accordingly, the USDA leadership would exercise ultimate authority over the expenditure of these funds, perhaps guided by the recommendations and requests of the Youth Advisory Committee.

CALLERLAB letter to USDA and other National organizations. Attaches a business proposal from Rebecca Holden's agency "Box Office, Inc." in Nashville, TN, requesting our review and comments. To implement Rebecca's proposed plan requires significant funds. If the square dancing community decides to make such an investment, where will the funds come from, and how will they be handled? The proposal is a "wide open ended contract form" with very little detail and no guarantees with an average cost of $10,000 per month. The proposal was totally unacceptable to the USDA.

23 Jan 97

Education Committee reported 3,115 trifolds, 377 pamphlets and 307 booklets were mailed out in the last six months of 1996.

Review by Jim Segraves (AL), USDA Director of Information, of the publication by Ken I about standardized calls for wheelchair dancing suggested three options for USDA. 1. Start gathering "Wheelchair Dancing" material and write our own USDA Booklet; 2. Get Ken I to work with USDA in the development of a new Booklet; 3. If agreeable to Ken I, Vancouver, B.C., use his data in a new USDA Booklet and give him credit and appreciation for most of the contents of the Booklet. He gets no money, just publicity and promotion. The Executive Committee approved the first option - USDA to develop our own Booklet. The Education Chairman John & Janet Rothrock were directed to head up a Committee to gather the data and write the USDA "Wheelchair Dancing" Booklet with assistance of the Handicapable Committee and the Director of Information.

The USDA Historian, Gailard & Jo Ann Janes (CO) are working on the USDA display that will depict photographs of the USDA Officers and Committee Chairmen. The display will be used at the National Conventions in the Showcase of Ideas.

Several letters have been received complimenting USDA on the use of Internet for square dance information. The first subscription form printed from the Internet has been received for a one-year subscription.

The USDA Treasurer, Elmer & Lottie Jackson (TN) reported that the $9,500 Meeting Expenses have been redistributed to the account of each officer or appointee who is eligible for room expenses. Three new accounts (budget line items) were created - Credit Card Committee, Insurance Chairman and Parliamentarian. Three new line items were added to the "Income Section" Handicapable Committee, Ways & Means, Youth, since significant amounts of income could be received in the future.

12 copies of the National Square Dance Directory were received and distributed to the members of the USDA Executive Committee. Directories were obtained at a cost of $54.

Larry Foraker (MO) is the USDA Agent of Record and Loraine Backus (AR) is the National Insurance Coordinator.

Mr. Al Ganaway of Ganaway Productions in Nashville, TN made a presentation to the Executive Committee and expressed his desire to promote square dancing and he wanted to promote it in Branson, MO. He expressed his desire to make the Square Dance as the National Folk Dance, purchase a considerable number of USDA Newsletters to send out with his video tapes and to purchase ads in the newsletter on a continuing basis.

He made a tape with the Executive Committee singing "Dancin in Branson", issued each member T-Shirts and ball caps with the Dancin in Branson logo. Because everything had been verbal, it was decided to request Mr. Ganaway to put his proposal in writing for consideration by USDA. Mark Mortensen (MO) was requested to contact Mr. Ganaway and request his proposal and plans be put in writing to the USDA.
